

A conceptual illustration on a textured, light-brown background. In the upper left, a glowing blue and white globe is partially visible. Below it, an open book with dark pages is shown. To the right, a large number of black butterflies are scattered across the scene. Several open books are depicted as if they are flying or falling through the air. The overall composition suggests themes of knowledge, truth, and global communication.

(Wahr)sagen